

WINES BY THE GLASS

WHITE

	175ml	250ml
Sauvignon Blanc	£6.00	£8.50
Lovely Sauvignon Blanc from the area where Bordeaux grape varieties thrive. Fresh and aromatic with lovely notes of gooseberry and elderflower.
Chardonnay	£6.00	£8.50
Based in Meursault, the Ropiteau brothers have been making outstanding Chardonnays since the 1850s. This Macon is made in a beautifully ripe style with juicy yellow pear and Golden delicious apples.
Pinot Grigio	£6.00	£8.50
A lightly blushed Pinot Grigio, made in a very fresh style. Dixie red peaches and red apple aromas on a lean, mineral body.

ROSÉ

	175ml	250ml
Pinot Grigio Blush	£6.00	£8.50
A lightly blushed Pinot Grigio, made in a very fresh style. Dixie red peaches and red apple aromas on a lean, mineral body.
Provence Rosé	£6.00	£8.50
A classic, dry style of Provence rosé. Predominantly made with Grenache which brings out the soft red fruit aromas of raspberry and sweet red cherry.
Anjou Rosé	£6.00	£8.50
A slightly off-dry style of rosé when you require a bit of sweetness with a spicy meal. From the banks of Loire valley made with Cabernet Franc.

RED

	175ml	250ml
Rioja	£6.00	£8.50
Lovely red from the arid lands of Rioja. Based on Tempranillo, these wines produce rich, full-bodied wines with jammy red fruits and a green savoury note, to work beautifully with rich foods.
Malbec	£6.00	£8.50
Mendoza's largest organic producer, Bodega Argento makes a delightful Malbec to pair perfectly with steaks and roasts.
Merlot	£6.00	£8.50
A classic Merlot from the area where Bordeaux grape varieties feel most at home. Medium-bodied with aromas of blue plum, prune and blueberries.

SPARKLING WINE

- 112 | Bottega Gold, 200ml, NV £7.50
A pocket-sized bottle of this fantastic Prosecco made from the grape Glera. The wine has aromas of green apples, acacia, and white flowers, along with a fresh lively character.
- 113 | Bottega, Rose Spumante, 200ml, NV £7.50
The Spumante is intense and elegant with aromas of red berries, red currants, wild strawberries, and gentle flowers.
- 643 | Castelnau, Brut, Champagne, France, 375ml £24
Sometimes a bottle of Champagne is a bit too much, so here is the exact same wine as our House Champagne, served in elegant half bottles. Perfect to start the meal, before moving on to something bigger.
- 010 | Romeo, Prosecco, Veneto, Italy, NV £26
Our house Prosecco is also available by the glass. Dry, but with sweet fruit aromas of peaches, apricots, and ripe pears.
- 114 | Bottega Gold, 750ml, NV £35
The premium Prosecco from Veneto. The vineyards span from Treviso up to the hillsides of Valdobbiadene, where the highest quality grapes are grown.
- 115 | Bottega, Rose Spumante, 750ml, NV £35
Produce with the Pinot Nero grapes or as we better know it Pinot Noir. A refined styles of sparkling wine not allowed to be called Prosecco as it is not made from the Glera grape.
- 010 | Champagne Castelnau, Brut, France, NV £45
Aged for 5 years on the creamy lees, the wine is smooth and fresh with notes of fresh apricots, yellow apples, and succulent pears.
- 010 | Champagne Castelnau, Rosé, France, NV £54
Beautiful Rosé aged and matured in the cellars of Castelnau. Beautifully floral and aromatic, with soft and creamy mousse.
- 104 | Castelnau, Blanc de Blancs, Champagne, France, 2005 £83
Beautiful Rosé aged and matured in the cellars of Castelnau. Beautifully floral and aromatic, with soft and creamy mousse.

ROSÉ WINE

- 014 | Principato, Pinot Grigio Blush, Italy £24
A lightly blushed Pinot Grigio, made in a very fresh style. Dixie red peaches and red apple aromas on a lean, mineral body.
- 014 | St.Louis de Provence, France £24
A classic, dry style of Provence rosé. Predominantly made with Grenache which brings out the soft red fruit aromas of raspberry and sweet red cherry.
- 013 | Sauvion, Anjou Rosé, Loire Valley, France £24
A slightly off-dry style of rosé when you require a bit of sweetness with a spicy meal. From the banks of Loire valley made with Cabernet Franc.
- 201 | Barbeville, Rose, Provence, France, 2021 £29
The bearded chap on the label speaks to the modernicity of this Provençal gem. Lychee, cranberry, and flowering strawberries, make this pink one of our favourite summer pours.
- 204 | Chateau d'Esclans, Whispering Angel, Provence, France, 2020 £49
Everyone has heard of Whispering Angel. Owned by the prestigious LVMH conglomerate, the wine has been one of the most popular wines of the last decade, with stocks increasingly difficult to get.

WHITE WINE

- 015 | Principato, Pinot Grigio, Italy £24
Our house Pinot Grigio is a lovely fresh example of the wine from the Veneto region. Refreshing with notes of fresh limes and Granny Smith apples.
- 015 | Franschoek Cellars, Sauvignon Blanc, South Africa £24
Lovely Sauvignon Blanc from the area where Bordeaux grape varieties thrive. Fresh and aromatic with lovely notes of gooseberry and elderflower.
- 015 | Ropiteau, Macon-Lugny, France £24
Based in Meursault, the Ropiteau brothers have been making outstanding Chardonnays since the 1850s. This Macon is made in a beautifully ripe style with juicy yellow pear and Golden delicious apples.
- 314 | Chateau du Cleray, Muscadet-Sur-Lie, Loire Valley, 2020 £26
Muscadet borders the Atlantic Ocean, making this a perfect wine for delicate fruits of the sea. Oysters and Muscadet are phenomenal together.
- 335 | Portal de Calcada, Reserva, Vinho Verde, 2020 £26
These young wines offer fantastic spritzy freshness and crisp green apple, pear, and lime aromas. Main wine of choice, when choosing partners for oysters, crab salad or to sip on its own.

- 324 | Roberto Sarotto, Gavi di Gavi, Piedmont, 2020 £28
 'A piedi di monte' - at the foot of the mountains lies one of Italy's finest wine regions. Piedmont makes fantastic, reds, whites, fizzes, and sweets. Gavi is a village in the southern part where they make wonderful floral wines from the local Cortese grape variety.
- 342 | Domingo Martin, Albarino, Rias Baixas, 2019 £30
 A classic Rias Baixas Albarinho with grapefruit flower, white peach, and sweet green pears. Classic pairings with Paella and other Atlantic dishes.
- 332 | Dog Point, Sauvignon Blanc, Marlborough, 2020 £32
 Instead of focusing on industrialisation, New Zealand wanted to protect their beautiful landscape. To do so in a sustainable way, they got into the business of Sauvignon Blanc, and no one does it quite as well as they do. The Dog Point is a classic with notes of morning grass, freshly picked asparagus and green apples.
- 316 | Domaine Ducroux, Sancerre, Loire Valley, 2020 £38
 Fantastic Sancerre whites are produced with the native Sauvignon Blanc. The mixture of soils on which it lies, makes these wines completely unique. The steely minerality is complemented by ripe passion fruits in warm vintages and gooseberries in colder ones. Fantastic wine for goats' cheese.
- 320 | Dr. Loosen, Bernkasteler Lay, Riesling Kabinett, Mosel, 2019 £39
 Riesling is a fantastic grape variety, incredibly versatile. This Kabinett example is slightly off-dry, perfect with spicier dishes, and those requiring refreshing acidity and tons of delectable fruit notes.
- 344 | The Federalist, Chardonnay, California, 2017 £40
 The Federalist project is a tribute to Alexander Hamilton, one of USAs most important politicians, so it had to be done well. Most of the fruit comes from the cooler Mendocino, making this a more restrained American Chardy, but we think it's absolutely lovely. Not too much oak!
- 306 | Pascal Bouchard, Chablis Vieilles Vignes, Burgundy, 2018 £42
 Everybody loves Chablis for its freshness and mineral crispness. Vieille Vignes is a term describing old vines, with roots sunk deep in the sub-soil extracting every little piece of flavour for this beautiful, deeply concentrated wine.
- 330 | Cantina Sorres, Su Bicu Vermentino, Sardinia, 2019 £42
 Laura and Delia, the 2 sisters (Sorres) in charge of this tiny project are as Sardinian as it gets. Loud and direct. The wine matches that philosophy, with this Vermentino showing a very clean palate, with aromatic white pears and juicy yellow apples and a touch of the salinity you get from the winds whipping the vineyard.
- 317 | Chateau de Tracy, Pouilly Fumé, Loire Valley, 2019 £45
 Pouilly-Fumé and Pouilly-Fuisse can often be confused, but the styles of wine are completely different. The Fumé refers to the smokiness you get in the Sauvignon Blancs in this Loire Valley region, while Fuisse is the name of a village in Burgundy where Chardonnay reigns supreme.

340 | Creation, Chardonnay, Hermanus, 2019 £49
From the Hemel-en-Aarde, the Heaven and Earth mountains. The high altitude and cool ocean air, allow Chardonnay to develop an elegant, restrained style, helped of course by the French-trained, Swiss winemaker Jean-Claude JC Martyn.

308 | Domaine Mazilly, Meursault, Burgundy, 2019 £78
The smokiness of Meursault makes it stand out of the crowd. Even when lightly oaked, the unique soil patterns make the wine shine with chargrilled peaches and pears. Accompanied with the classic Burgundy elegance, this is a beautiful entry way in to why the region is the most respected wine region in the world.

RED WINE

016 | Navajas, Rioja, Spain £24
Lovely red from the arid lands of Rioja. Based on Tempranillo, these wines produce rich, full-bodied wines with jammy red fruits and a green savoury note, to work beautifully with rich foods.

016 | Argento, Malbec, Argentina £24
Mendoza's largest organic producer, Bodega Argento makes a delightful Malbec to pair perfectly with steaks and roasts.

016 | Franschoek Cellars, Merlot, South Africa £24
A classic Merlot from the area where Bordeaux grape varieties feel most at home. Medium-bodied with aromas of blue plum, prune and blueberries.

563 | Chateau du Pierreux, Brouilly, Beaujolais, 2020 £27
Brouilly is one of the more powerful crus in Beaujolais. Under the mountain of Brouilly, the vineyards tend to be exposed to the sun for just a touch longer, giving them more structure than your classic youthful Beaujolais. The wine retains its characteristic joyful fruit aromas that make Beaujolais so popular.

586 | Visconti della Rocca, Primitivo, Puglia, 2020 £27
Primitivo is anything but primitive, with its joyful nature and character the wine is loved in Southern Italy and served with every meal including breakfast. The wine is delightfully fruity, and it has enough body for strong dishes.

587 | Ducale, Salice Salentino, Puglia, 2017 £27
Salice Salentino is a fairly new geographical designation that covers the area around the tiny village of Salice. Wines are mainly made from Negroamaro and Aleatico, two grape varieties native to the South of Italy. Approachable wines, in a way similar to Primitivo, but drier and more earthy.

565 | Chateau des Tresques, Cotes du Rhone, Rhone Valley, £28
Classic Rhone blend of Syrah, Grenache, Cinsault, Mourvèdre and many more. Each of the blending partners has its own role to fulfil, to make these wines perfect for both regular drinking and their suitability for food pairing.

- 521 | Chateau Le Monge, Medoc, Bordeaux, 2017 £29
 Médoc is situated on the Left Bank of Bordeaux and the wine stays true to the classic blending patterns of the area. The gravelly soils benefit Cabernet Sauvignon the most, with Cabernet Franc supplementing most of the remaining blend to add a bit of freshness to the wine. Great value wine.
- 643 | Cycles Gladiator, Pinot Noir, California, USA, 2020 £29
 The art nouveau label has attracted much attention, particularly in Alabama, where it is banned. It seems the bicycle riding naked nymph was a bit too much to handle. We are not as sensitive, especially when the juice is as good as this. Fantastic value Pinot from America, where the methods are slowly becoming more and more refined and wines achieve much greater quality than ever before.
- 501 | Kaiken, Cabernet Sauvignon, 2019 £31
 Cabernet Sauvignon is the King of reds, and while originating from France, its renown is so great, it made its way into every corner of the World. Including Argentina, where this soft example comes from. It doesn't have the harsh tannins of the French and the fruit is rounder, but it still goes beautifully with steak.
- 516 | Caliterra, Petreo, Carmenere, Colchagua Valley, 2020 £32
 Carmenere is originally from Bordeaux but has never made it as its own variety over there. It has always been a blending partner for the more prestigious brothers in Bordeaux. Chile however found a way to give it new life. What Malbec is to Argentina, Carmenere is to Chile.
- 557 | Maison Louis Latour, Les Pierres Dorees, Burgundy, 2018 £33
 A classic red Burgundy with approachable fruit notes of raspberries, cherries, cranberries with a touch of red apple as well. Excellent with lighter dishes and less demanding meats, we would steer clear of steaks with this one.
- 545 | Chateau Lucas, Lussac - St.Emilion, Bordeaux, 2015 £35
 Lussac - St.Emilion is one of our favourite St.Emilion satellites. That's how the villages mimicking the great UNESCO protected village are called. The wines are based on Merlot, but with a heavy portion of Cabernet Franc as well which adds more body and deeper, more violet colour.
- 599 | Spy Valley, Pinot Noir, Marlborough, 2017 £35
 Pinot Noir is gaining some ground in New Zealand. The richer, fuller styles can be found in the South in Central Otago, but here in Marlborough the wine is much more approachable and softer. Sour cherries dominate the palate and there's a hint of florality on this.
- 508 | Oliver's Taranga, Shiraz, McLaren Vale, 2019 £38
 Oliver's Taranga is still family owned, for over 180 years, making it one of the longest-lived estates in the World not only Australia. This continuity helps them learn and create wines that have been consistently great. Their Shiraz is classic, with blackberry jam, freshly ground black pepper and that indescribable scent of barbecue marks on a piece of steak.
- 608 | Painted Wolf, Guillermo Pinotage, 2018 £38
 Pinotage can sometimes get a bit of stick, for its past failures. These days there are more and more great examples of the grape, and the Painted Wolf is one of them.

- 612 | Condado de Haza, Crianza, Ribera del Duero, 2017 £38
 Ribera del Duero hides many of its best wines from us, because the locals love it so much. This is probably the best bargain in our wine list. Fantastic, juicy, plump, round, integrated, but still firm - letting you know it's there. Great with grilled meats.
- 503 | Pulenta Estate, Malbec, Mendoza, 2019 £39
 The Pulentas along with the Catenas are arguably the most important wine families in Argentina. Their Estate Malbec is their flagship wine, with everything you expect from a Malbec, but with a touch more wood to the wine.
- 522 | Chateau Lamothe, Haut-Medoc, Bordeaux, 2017 £39
 Made in the town of Cissac in the Northern part of Bordeaux left bank, the wine is surprisingly heavy in Merlot, making this wine approachable at a very young age. No need to wait years and years to enjoy it, but it works especially well with saltier savoury dishes that really bring those dark plums out to play.
- 613 | Finca Museum, Vinea Crianza, Cigales, 2016 £39
 Cigales is a wine region just North of Madrid around the city of Valladolid. One of the most beautiful Spanish cities, primarily focused on religious and historical tourism. To support this, Cigales was established to supply the region with fantastic wines. This example is a pure Tempranillo, similar to wines you can find in Rioja.
- 614 | Cune, Gran Reserva, Rioja, 2013 £40
 A Gran Reserva designation in Rioja requires the wine to age for a minimum of 5 years, of which 2 years must be in barrel and 2 in bottle. What this means for us drinkers; the wine is better integrated and harmonised. In other words, it is ready to drink, no unnecessary cellaring and waiting for the wine to come to term.
- 517 | Errazuriz, Aconcagua Syrah, Aconcagua, 2017 £41
 A contender for most underrated wine, Chilean Syrah. The class of Rhone, the affordability of Chile. When looking for a steak partner, the spicy Syrah should always be at the top of everyone's choices.
- 546 | Vieux Chateau des Combes, St.Emilion, Bordeaux, 2018 £42
 A fantastic St.Emilion, with Merlot holding its own, and Cabernet Franc lacing the wine with green notes. The wine makes us think of slow cooked stews, Coq au vin and classic French bistro cuisine in general. Absolutely lovely!
- 548 | Chateau Cantin, St.Emilion Grand Cru, Bordeaux, 2018 £45
 Chateau Cantin is a St.Emilion Grand Cru, placing it into the elite wineries that consistently produce high quality wines that speak to what St. Emilion is all about. The status is revised every 10 years, which keeps the Chateaux under constant pressure to deliver great wines. If they don't, they're out!

- 593 | Pieropan, Ruberpan, Valpolicella, Veneto, 2017 £46
 Pieropan are famous for their whites, but they have always made outstanding Valpolicella. Such a juicy and approachable wine, with sweet and sour cherries, and playful raspberries. Perfect wine with lighter dishes, or for an easy night out.
- 610 | Creation, Pinot Noir, Hermanus, 2018 £58
 JC Martyn built his estate on the philosophies of Burgundy. Both his Chardonnay and Pinot Noir are outstanding, mainly because of the climate. The mountains above Hermanus provide the cool and dry air these grape varieties need to flourish. This is a fantastic Pinot, and it can be drunk on its own or with food.
- 596 | Chateau Musar, Bekkaa Valley, 2014 £59
 There is definitely something special about Chateau Musar. Their stubbornness to stick with what the vintage gives them and practice a hands-off approach in their winemaking is hard to understand for those of us that like to have everything in control. However, they relinquish it to produce some of the most mesmerizing wines in the best vintages, however there are also some poor vintages, where the wines are forgettable at best. This is one of the good ones.
- 524 | Les Fiefs de Lagrange, St.Julien, Bordeaux, 2013 £62
 Wines from St. Julien tend to show a lot of power and this one is no different. Blackberry notes, cassis and strong menthol freshness stand up to that power beautifully. As it ages, dark chocolate and roasted coffee is starting to show and the berries are starting to dry out, more plum character is evident.
- 584 | Giacomo Asheri, Barolo, Piedmont, 2016 £68
 Since 1880, the Asheris have been producing wines in the commune of Serralunga d'Alba which sits just East of the town of Barolo. This is a classic Barolo with ripe orange skin aromas coming through, flavours of violets and cherries. The mouth-watering acidity and classic Barolo tannins are also evident as is the low extraction resulting in very pale colour.
- 568 | Chateauneuf-du-Pape, La Bastide Saint Dominique, Rhone Valley, 2019 £73
 The famous village got its name in the 14th century, when the then pope Clement V, decided to move the seat of the papal throne to France. The name literally translates to "New castle of the Pope". Obviously, he was a big fan of the wine, and so are we. Currently 18 different grape varieties are allowed in the production of this village wine, but in the case of Bastide St. Dominique only 4 were used, with the bold Grenache taking up 80% of the blend.
- 560 | Domaine des Beaumont, Gevrey-Chambertin, Burgundy, 2016 £84
 The Domaine is new, but the family behind it have all been winemakers at different companies for many generations. This shows in the wines, as they have a bit of a classic, rustic feel. Earthy and floral, with a touch of spice.
